1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/3/2009 has been entered.

REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The claims as amended are allowable for the reasons advanced by applicant in the remarks accompanying the 11/3/2009 amendment taken with the following additional comments. In particular, and as noted by applicant, preheating in Caretta et al. (US 6,409,959) is to quicken evaporation of the solvent, there being no teaching or suggestion to carry out the heating at least until the uncured tire components are applied to and radially outward of the innerliner as claimed. Caretta et al. also fails to teach use of a cylindrically shaped innerliner formed of thermoplastic elastomer of a thickness as claimed and which has a radially outer surface to which an adhesive has been applied as claimed. Although use of thermoplastic elastomer with adhesive as an innerliner is known in the art (e.g. previously applied Kaido et al. (US 6,136,123), Hashimura et al. (US 2002/0033557) and the admitted state of the prior art (paragraph [0002]-[0003] in the specification)), this prior art does not teach or render obvious preheating a drum in advance to 40-60 degrees C to place the adhesive into a higher tackiness condition and carrying out the heating at least until the uncured tire components are applied to and radially outward of the innerliner as claimed. The closest prior art, then, whether taken singly or in combination, would not teach or render obvious a method as claimed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

3. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Geoffrey L. Knable whose telephone number is 571-272-1220. The examiner can normally be reached on M-F.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Richard Crispino can be reached on 571-272-1226. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
